One of DBIA's most important missions is to promote the widespread and successful utilization of the design-build project delivery method throughout industry and government. Toward that goal, DBIA/New England Chapter presents . . .

Design-Build: What's Going On?

Find out the range of projects, growth areas, the trends, the players, the successes, and the stories, in a special presentation and discussion forum.

Speaker: W. Lee Evey
New National President
Design Build Institute of America
National Office, Washington, DC

About the speaker:

Lee Evey, the new president of national DBIA, was most recently senior vice president of 3D / International, Inc. and senior advisor to the Iraqi Ministry of Housing and Construction for their rebuilding efforts. He also served as program manager for the 10-year, $4 billion Pentagon Renovation Program where he championed the use of design-build to achieve significant cost savings and rapid project completion. He recently was honored with the presidential Distinguished Executive Rank Award for extraordinary accomplishment in management of U.S. government programs.
