Dear Classmates,

I have started to find your attitudes to be just a teensy tiny bit disturbing. Although nobody says it to your faces, I just couldn't resist the opportunity to express my feelings of discontent toward you. I'm mad about the teacher in the class, I'm mad about the fact that I have an F in the class, but most of all, I am mad about all of you in the class. I deeply encourage you all to change your behavior and lower yourselves to ground level, not only to help the people around you (me), but also to help yourself make friends. Not many people notice you guys' minuscule egos, but I have, and I just wanted to quickly remind you about all the things I really wish you knew:

1. When A and B are talking see (C) yourself out; if you weren't invited in the conversation, it is probably because we didn't want you in it.
2. The 10 points off you got on the SAT are totally going to haunt you for the rest of your life and is a testament to one of your many pitfalls.
3. The fact you solved a Rubik's cube slower than me means your intelligence is an ounce of what mine will ever be.
4. That one time your mom didn't pack you a snack means she doesn't love you.
5. The 1 day you didn't come to school doesn't mean nothing happened (I was out there crushin' it).
6. The 1 cheerio that slowly tumbled onto the floor this morning means your house is unbelievably messy.
7. That time I spend in the library with you is not for you but your scrumptious golden-brown chicken nuggets.
8. Student Government does not mean you are the School's royalty; it means you are the only one who volunteered to do extra work.
9. Just cause you got 1 like on your instagram post does not mean the whole nation (aka my friends and I) is waiting to see what you post next.
10. Just cause you sold 1 Welch's bag doesn't mean you made bank.
11. Just cause you yell at us to buy Welch's does not mean anyone buys them because of you (Welch's just taste good)..
12. Just cause you have 99.99% of your homework done by the end of class doesn't mean you are smarter than everyone else (aka me).
13. Just cause you watched Mean Girls doesn't mean everyone knows what you are talking about (aka me).
14. Just cause you think you're funny doesn't mean you are funny (there's a difference).
15. Just cause you think an idea is yours does not mean that other people (aka me) cannot have the same idea.
16. Just cause you got a perfect MCAS score in English doesn't mean you can correct my grammar and spelling (anything i sid and writin is writ).
17. Just cause you speak a ton doesn't mean anyone is listening to you (aka me).
18. Just cause you didn't do your homework doesn't mean you can do it in class.

19. Just cause you don't know what your fish are saying doesn't mean the fish can't talk.
20. Just cause your siblings are younger than you doesn't mean that they're not cooler than you (trust me it's not that hard - I've been doing it for centuries).

Worst Regards,

Your cherished, altruistic, fav classmate.
