Motivation

For those living in or visiting cities, it can be difficult to be made aware of events in your area. Many times, members of the community rely on word of mouth which can be inconsistent. Our app solves this problem.

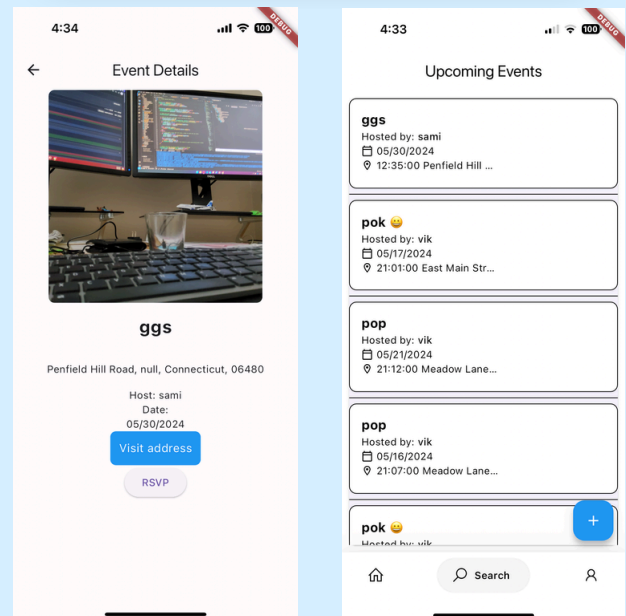

Description

Jevents displays events in the local area of a user and allows them to RSVP for different events. All events a user is registered for is saved on their account for future reference.

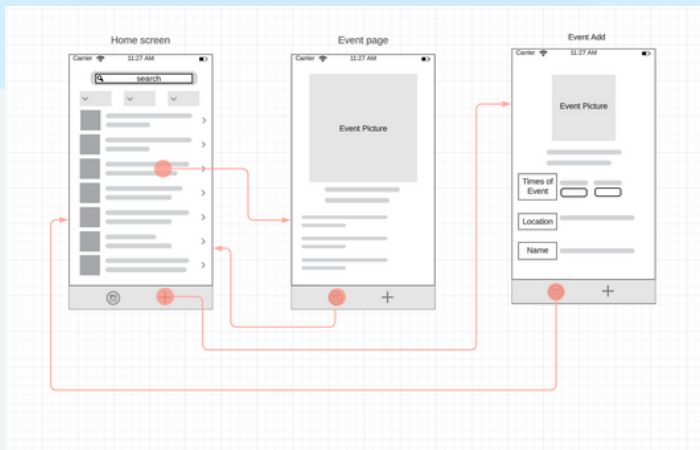

App Features

- Allows user to view events in their area as a variety of tiles that conveniently display necessary details to events.
- Allows users to RSVP for events and save them to their account
- Users can create and publish events for other users within a certain radius of the event's location to see
